

European Journal of Neuroscience Online

As a member of the BNA, you are entitled to FREE access to the online edition of European Journal of Neuroscience during 2001. EJN is the official journal of FENS, the Federation of European Neuroscience Societies, and is one of the leading broad spectrum neuroscience journals in the world. The Journal is now publishing twice a month, and has now introduced a web-based submission and refereeing system. All of these initiatives will mean that submission to publication times should be significantly decreased.

Here are some of the benefits reading the Journal online, via Synergy, can bring:

- fully searchable HTML text of articles displayed in your browser
- PDF version of the article for printing
- search for articles by the same authors
- thumbnails of figures and tables expand to full size
- embedded links to references, figures and tables
- links from references to databases including ISI, CrossRef and other articles in Synergy

And also, free of charge, you can:

- receive free Table of Contents alerts for any journal in Synergy
- set up a personal homepage to manage your subscriptions
- view Abstracts free of charge for any journal in Synergy
- save and run regular searches to keep yourself up to date with the literature
